

MILKING GLOVES....

Economy Latex box 100 $15.95

small	204 625	large	204 623
medium	204 624	x-large	204 626

Our Economy Latex Milking gloves are of good quality to enable you to get through the whole milking with one pair. But they are not too thick to prevent good "feel" on the job. Gloves are lightly powdered, and are ambidextrous. Thickness 4 mil (0.08mm)

Nitrile gloves are especially suitable for people who have reactions to latex

Shoof Nitrile box 100 $18.95

Nitrile milking gloves are now used almost universally in New Zealand and Australian dairies. Shoof Nitrile Milking gloves are 240mm long and 4.5 mils thick (0.1mm).

NITRILE MILKING GLOVES

Nitrile is a compounded rubber material that has significant advantages over common latex rubber when used for gloves. Most importantly Nitrile is generally non-allergenic, whereas latex is commonly allergenic, often causing irritation and rashes on the skin. Nitrile does not have the "memory" of latex. That is, after wearing for about 30 minutes the material adopts the shape of your hand. Latex gloves on the otherhand, continue to want to return to their original shape. This is why Nitrile gloves are much more comfortable to wear. Also Nitrile is about three times more resistant to punctures, and much more resistant to a wider range of chemicals than latex rubber. For all these reasons, it is generally well worth paying the extra price for Nitrile gloves if you are wearing them frequently or for long periods.

Long Nitrile box 100 $19.95

small	204 629	x-large	204 630
medium	204 628	xx-large	209 218
large	204 627

Our Long Nitrile gloves are the same high quality manufacture as our Shoof nitrile milking gloves, but with an extra 50mm of cuff, making the gloves 290mm overall length. Thickness 4.5 mil. (0.1mm).

Thick Nitrile box 50 $18.95

small	209 014	large	209 012
medium	209 013	x-large	209 080

Our Thick Nitrile gloves are the same high quality manufacture as our Shoof Nitrile milking gloves, but are double the thickness at 8 mil (approx. 0.2mm), thus ensuring they can be re-used several times (instructions on bottom of box). They also have the extra long cuff.
